BURGLARS ENTER GROCERY STORE

Cater and Benfield's Store Entered and Cash Register Rifled.

The store of Cater & Benfield on Pleasant street was broken into some time Saturday night, and a small sum of money taken from the cash register in the meat department.

The break was made from a window in the alley, and entrance made by cutting a pane of glass out, and then the thief had only to reach through and turning the clasp and the rest was easy. In getting in, baskets which were stacked in front of the window were removed and once in these were carefully placed in position.

The cash register in the grocery department were found open, but there was no change in that.

In the meat department the cash register contained in small bills and change some over $16, and this was taken, but not until the thief or thieves had used considerable effort to get the register open. They were evidently unacquainted with the method of opening the register with the keys, and after trying to pry open the draw the name plate on the front of the register was taken off, and to do this several small screws were taken out, requiring patience and time. The meat knives were used as screwdrivers, but once the plate was off it availed them nothing. Evidently they struck the combination after a while and got the draw open.

There was no evidence of any attempt to take anything from the office or any goods from the store.

The break was discovered Sunday morning when one of the clerks went into the store and found the back door unlocked. An investigation revealed the broken window and the open cash register, and the police and Mr. Cater were notified. The police think it was the work of somebody more or less familiar with the store.

EVENTS OF ELIOT

One Lucky Hunter Got Home and Three Make Start

All Three of the Selectmen are in Poor Health

Eliot, Me., Oct. 25.

William O. Kennard, Belmont Buck and Howard C. Libbey started this morning for the Lake Umbagog region. They will go into the woods from Greenville and expect to return in two or three weeks with a plenty of moose and deer.

George O. Shapleigh's hog weighed 500 pounds dressed weight.

The brick yard season of activity is nearly over for this year. It has been a good season. The rebuilding of Chelsea, Mass., last year, cleaned up the stock of brick so that the Eliot yards had to start earlier in the season this year.

All three of the selectmen of Eliot are poorly just now. First Selectman John R. Goodwin has practically recovered from his recent attack of appendicitis but has not fully got back his usual vigor. Selectman Alfred Spinyer of South Eliot is confined to the house with a broken shoulder and other injuries but is doing well. The other member of the board, Charles D. Gale has an attack of blood poison in one hand and is obliged to keep pretty quiet.

Mrs. Charles M. Bangs and daughter went to New Castle for a visit at Fred Bangs.

Miss Hattie Shapleigh and Miss Laura Frye are visiting relatives at Lynn, Mass.

Milton Frost of Rumford, N. I., is visiting relatives here.

Diphtheria has broken out at Spinner's Switch in the home of Mr. Rowe who recently took the position of telegraph operator and moved there. A sister of Mrs. Rowe came with her three children for a visit of a few days and the children were all taken sick with the disease. The house was quarantined on Sunday. The family is little known in town, and full particulars are not obtainable on account of the quarantine.

Allen G. Tobey returned from Castigan, Me., with two deer, a fine doe and a large buck fawn.

Mrs. Daniel Clark of Liberty, Me., arrived today for a visit to her son, D. Cronett Clark and family.

CATHOLIC UNION BUSY

Big Meeting on Sunday—A Large Attendance

The Portsmouth Catholic Union held a busy meeting on Sunday afternoon, and transacted a large amount of business which included the appointment of a committee to look into the matter of a fair and the nomination of officers to be named at the next meeting.

NEW CASTLE

Flower Gardens Are Dead Until Next Year

Virginia Belle Whitlock the Latest Arrival in Town

New Castle, Oct. 25.

Some Sundays must be rainy and some will always find them dreary as well, but as a day of rest and recuperation, yesterday was a success.

The glory of the flower gardens is past. Death has breathed upon the earth and the flush in the cheek of nature has faded. Ah, me, it makes me sad to see the change a week has made in my garden. The lovely flowers which nodded to me so cheerfully only a few days ago as I passed by have withered into unsightly decay. The morning glories, which had climbed to the top of the pyramid have unclasped their hands and withdrawn their frail hold from the tendrils where they lately clung. How beautiful are flowers what pleasure they give; emblems of purity and truth they cheer and delight every one. They are a noble gift of nature and should be cultivated in every home no matter how humble. For they are the most beautiful things God ever created without putting in to an immortal soul.

Mr. Peter Cassidy of Portsmouth passed Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. White.

Ergt. Major Erikson and family have returned from a six months sojourn with relatives in Sweden.

Miss Florence Kimball who has been the guest of John Rull has returned to her home in Danville, Mass.

Mr. D. F. Curtis of Lynn, passed Sunday with relatives.

Mrs. Priscilla Chapman, who has been the guest of Mrs. Thomas Haywood and family, has returned to her home in Somerville.

Mr. Elmer Pridham and family have returned from a visit with relatives in Swampscott.

Mrs. William T. Meloon has recovered from an attack of acute indigestion.

A little daughter has arrived to gladden the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Whitlock. The precious infant has been named Virginia Belle.

Mrs. Grace Durkee has returned to her home in Haverhill.

Mrs. Thomas Stuart of Portsmouth is visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Gray.

Mrs. Everett Jones and daughter Martha, who have been the guests of Mrs. Florence Batoon, have returned to their home in Salem, Mass.

Many residents have already secured tickets to see that popular drama, "The Volunteer Organist," that combination that causes brine to pass through the tear duct one moment and releases the features the next. All who have not should see this "Great Salt Lake of Fiction" at Music Hall this evening.

DOVER DOINGS

Dover, Sept. 25.—In the superior court in the case of Samuel M. Sargent against the town of Stratford, the jury returned a verdict for the town.

Mr. Sargent sued the town for damages in the sum of $500, claiming that, through the improper construction of Pease's bridge, he was thrown from his carriage and severely injured. This closes the list of jury cases, of which there have been ten, in all of which a verdict has been returned, there being no disagreements.

Henry B. Davis, chief of police at Salmon Falls, was given a hearing in police court charged with obtaining money or goods under false pretences. The complainant was Mrs. Rosa Lavigne, who claimed that he obtained furniture of her, for which he had failed to pay. Mrs. Lavigne was at the county fair at the time. After the hearing, which lasted nearly all day, Mr. Davis was acquitted of the charge.

Angry at New Law that They May not Be Naturalized

Boston, Oct. 25.—Boston Armenians aroused by the new ruling of the department of commerce and labor barring men of their race from becoming citizens, are planning a mighty meeting of protest.

BOY SHOT IN THE WOODS

Edward Moody of York May Die as Result of His Injuries

A very sad shooting accident occurred at York on Saturday, from which a young man, Edward Moody, is in a serious condition that may lead to the loss of life.

Moody, accompanied by another young man were out during the afternoon gunning and the story told regarding the accident is as follows:

While passing through a thick growth, the other young man, who was behind Moody with a double-barreled ten-gauge gun, with both channels loaded, and the triggers up, stumbled. As he fell one of the barrels discharged, terribly shattering and tearing the right leg of his comrade who fell to the ground in a laid agony. Before help could be summoned, Moody had lost considerable blood and he was nearly at death's door when relief came.

The young man who carried the gun is nearly prostrated by the sad occurrence.

ages of becoming naturalized citizens of this country.

Concerted action will be taken by the Armenians of this and other cities throughout the country to bring the matter before Congress, and to have that body amend the revised statutes so as to include Armenians in the list of those eligible to become citizens.

Practically all of the leading Armenian business and professional men of greater Boston believe that the government should bar out Asiatics, but they do not contend that the government is right in classing men of their race as Asiatics.

Although notices of the ruling were sent to this city, yet very few Armenians were aware up to yesterday that such an interpretation of the law had been made. When the matter was called to their attention by the American plans were made for a mass meeting to protest against the injustice.

One of the clearest statements regarding the contention of the Armenians was that made by Dr. F. A. Adamlan of No. 1475 Washington street. "The ruling is unjust," he declared. "Armenians are not of the same race as Chinese or Japanese, or as Turks. They are of the Aryan branch of the Caucasian race, and are a 'white' people. They are Christians the same as other white men. I do not think that the men who made the ruling ever consulted an ethnologist. We will go to Congress and ask that body to amend the present laws so as to allow Armenians—a white people—to receive the same gift from this country as other aliens who are free, white persons."

MAKING GOOD New Brewing Firm Pushing Things Along at Albany

Messrs. Bartlett and Anglin, formerly of this city and the Frank Jones Brewing Company, who recently purchased the Amsden brewing plant at Albany, N. NEW HAMPSHIRE FRUIT WAS GOOD

Won Many Prizes at New England Fruit Show in Boston

Prophets of New Hampshire's future as a fruit raising state will find encouragement in the results attained by the men engaged in the business at the New England Fruit show at Boston, for the state carried off the honors in many competitions. On Friday the Draper cup went to a Hollis farm, and Saturday the sweepstakes prize of $25 for the best barrel of Baldwin apples was awarded to E. N. Sawyer of Salisbury, as well as the prize of $20 for the best box of Baldwins, the prizes for the best barrel and the best barrel of Baldwins grown in New Hampshire, and the grand sweepstakes prizes of $100 for the best barrel of apples of any variety in the show, and of $75 for the best box of apples of any variety in the show.

Mr. Sawyer was jubilant at his success and said that the judges had a difficult task in deciding between his barrel and that of his nearest competitor who was from Rhode Island, every apple in the two barrels being taken out and examined carefully.

Another New Hampshire man who won honors was J. F. Moore of Boscowen, who won the sweepstakes for the best barrel of Rhode Island greenings grown in New Hampshire.

There was a rush for a demonstration of cooking apples which was to be given at 11 o'clock in the morning, but it did not materialize. Instead, Prof. F. C. Sears of the Massachusetts Agricultural college gave a demonstration in the basement of the proper method of packing apples. Meanwhile Mr. Sawyer was doing the same thing upstairs, unpacking and packing his prize barrel of Baldwin.

Not only did these important prizes come to New Hampshire, but the following awards on plate exhibits were given New Hampshire men:

On plates of five specimens—Baldwins, first, C. E. Hardy, Hollis; fourth, A. I. Hall, Rochester; Delicous, first, W. D. Baker, Quincy; Hubbard, fourth, R. F. Harden, Newington; fifth, C. C. Shaw, Milford; Meiden's Blush, third, C. C. Shaw, Milford; Fameuse, first, W. B. Phelan, Milford; Northern Spy, second, E. S. Walker, Alton; Bell Flower, second, G. H. Folsom, Boscowen; Olden Berg, third, C. C. Shaw, Milford; Red Canada, first, C. C. Coffin, Essexwauke.

On trials of twelve specimens—Baldwins, first, C. E. Hardy, Hollis; Bell Flower, second, G. H. Folsom, Boscowen.

Grapes—Individual plates: Concord C. J. Barchelder, Wilton, first, and for Werden and Niagara second.

VOLCANO WAS A FAKE

El Centro, Cal., Oct. 25.—The volcano at Volcano Lake, lower California, was exploded figuratively last night, when it was learned that a watchman, to break the monotony, set fire to some trash on a bank of sulphur deposited by an old geyser. The sulphur burned fiercely and sent up clouds of fumes. This bonfire was the volcano.

AN AMERICAN POPULAR SONG ENDORSED BY ROYALTY

That a popular song should achieve the distinction of being sung at a private concert given exclusively for the entertainment of a certain monarch and his friends, is in itself quite unusual, and even more unusual are the facts attending its reception. For obvious reasons the name of the monarch is withheld from publication.

A well known European concert singer, while in America, secured a copy of a new high class ballad, "My Way to Heaven is Through Your Love, Sweetheart," intending to use it as an encore number. Upon her return to Europe, she was advised that she was to sing at a concert to be held at the concert room in the palace of... After her rendition of three of her classic numbers, the royal host personally sent a request that she sing another song, or a somewhat lighter character. The singer decided to sing, "My Way to Heaven is Through Your Love, Sweetheart," which scored so signally that she repeated it. After the concert, she was duly presented to the monarch, who, in complimenting her, spoke in a particularly enthusiastic manner of the popular number she had rendered.

Thus, perhaps, for the first time in the history of songs, an American composition was endorsed by royalty.

GREENLAND

Miss Mildred Mahoney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Mahoney, celebrated her sixteenth birthday at her home Saturday evening by entertaining a large number of her young friends. The house was tastefully decorated with potted plants and ferns. Games of all sorts were played, and a repast was served consisting of assorted cakes, ice cream, fruits and bonbons. She was presented with a beautiful gold bracelet, William Brackett of Greenland making the presentation speech. She also received many other gifts. The young folks departed at a late hour wishing their young hostess many more happy birthdays.

"The Volunteer Organist"

One of the special features of "The Volunteer Organist" company, which is booked to appear at Portsmouth Music Hall tonight is the rendering of those beautiful solos "The Holy City" and "The Palace" by Master Willie Golden, a boy soprano from Trinity church, New York.

This famous youngster is ably assisted by Masters Harry Johnston of Bromont Guitry, London, England, and Herbert Howard of St. Paul's church, Boston, Mass.

The success of this beautiful sentimental play by Mr. William B. Gray has set permanently at rest the vast amount of speculation as to how a drama dealing so strongly with the affairs of the church would fare and them northward, where today there is scarcely one to be found, even at St. Marie, where they made their last effort to hold what was really their own. After many years of vagabondage and possibly some of the most brutal fights known to history, the English and French learned that the Indians could be bought, tamed and breaded, but when it came to fighting, they held their own with such weapons as the occasion demanded.

At the time of every play Lewis Cass, governor of Michigan and peace had fallen on a land which had seen so much bloodshed. The first act opens in Michabo's wigwam, ten miles back in the forest from the St. Clair river.

CHOIR BOYS IN "THE VOLUNTEER ORGANIST."

has most happily proven that good moral plays are just what the people have been waiting to see.

This extraordinary play has a most unusual and original dramatic conception. The characters are true to life and tell a story that goes straight to the heart. There are tears and laughter, sunshine and gloom, all artfully blended in this most human and engrossing stage picture of life in the Green Mountain state.

The central figure of the drama is a young minister with athletic tendencies who is always to be found in the right side of every public question. The play has many scenes which tug at the auditor's heart strings one moment, and convulse with laughter the next. The cast is one of unusual excellence including, as has been said, the famous Trinity church, New York, boy soprano, Willie Golden.

"A Play With a New Locale"
The author of "The White Squaw" has ventured on new ground. He has taken for his locale, the wilderness of Michigan, in the year

1820, which gives the stage picture and characters that are both new and human. For possibly at no other age or in no other part of the world is there a richer field for an author. It was at this period that the French and English were rapidly supplanting the Indians—moving

The principle characters in the play are, Leah Canaan, or Noamette the white squaw, as she is now called, she having been found in the forest at the age of four by Michabo, a Chippewa Indian, and reared and loved by him and his wife, Ampata. She is now eighteen, and believes herself to be a squaw. Octavia, Noamette's sister, who is a beautiful blonde, and the first white girl Noamette has ever seen, since she can remember; Bruce Marshall, a fur trader for the John Jacob Astor company, whom Noamette loves, as also does her sister; Jacques Gaudier, a French Canadian trapper, who is very much in love with Noamette; Charles Renaud, a fur trader and his wife; and Michabo, and Ampata his wife, the supposed parents of the white squaw.

The play will have its initial presentation in Portsmouth on Tuesday night at Music Hall.

The production carries the production complete, using no house, stuff whatever.

Bernstein's Predigible Royalties
Mury Bernstein, the author of "The Thief" which Charles Frohman will present at the Music Hall on Nov. 3, while one of the youngest writers for the present day theatre, seems destined soon to become one of the richest. Bernstein's royalties for "The Thief" last season must have been close to $100,000.

Besides running for ten months in New York "The Thief" was also produced in London, Madrid, St. Petersburg and Stockholm. This year Bernstein's receipts from "The Thief" should be trebled, for, in addition to the company in New York, Charles Frohman has three companies on the road. Last summer also "The Thief" was produced with great eclat and success in Australia.

Later on, companies will also be sent into the provinces of those European countries in whose capitals "The Thief" has already been seen.

"THE LOVE CURE"

Henry W. Savage's Musical Romance of Stageand, a Notable Triumph, coming to Boston November 1st

Henry W. Savage's third important production of the season, "The Love Cure," has proved the sensational musical success of the season in New York, the critical and popular verdict being unanimous that no more delightful operetta has been heard in the metropolis in many months. Fittingly, this charming "musical romance of Stageand" will be offered for a limited engagement beginning Monday, Nov. 1, at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, the beautiful playhouse which was so long the home of "The Merry Widow" in no other New England city will "The Love Cure" be presented by Mr. Savage this season.

"The Love Cure" is European as to music and American as to libretto, the score being by that eminent Viennese composer, Edmund Kysler, and the book by America's witliest humorist, Oliver Herford. The locale of the action is the metropolis itself and the characters are all American, the story having to do with the love of a young man of high social status, with the chief complication brought about by the rivalry for the heroine's affections on the part of her rather mature artistic associate. Mr. Herford has followed the German original only in a general way—a course that the critics have approved enthusiastically. He has even dared to do that most unusual thing in operetta—have a serious thread in the story—and in the doing of this has added new laurels to his already noteworthy list. The result is that until the final moment there is a genuine suspense and strong romantic interest. A subsidiary plot tells another love story of scarcely less charm, while all the characteristics Herford gaily of humor and keenness of wit appears at its very best.

Herf's music stands as quite the most fascinating of the year. Its haunting, witchery, notable sweetness and remarkable artistic qualities stamp it as a class almost all its own. "Flirtation," "When Skies are Bright," "For Get It," "Just a Play," "Love and Wine," "How Fair the World," "Glad's Mark," "A Matinee Idol," "Gather Ye Rosebuds," and "A Toast" are a few only of the individual bits in a rich and varied score which fairly sparkles with alluring songs, spirited choruses and orchestral treats.

Mr. Savage's supremacy as a producer has never been more definitely demonstrated than in the three magnificent settings—showing upper Broadway at night, as the theatre crowds are pouring from the playhouses; a ballroom in a Fifth Avenue Palace; and a back-of-the-scenes in a metropolitan theatre. Beautiful costumes and stage detail of a noteworthy sort add their part.

Dainty Liza Abarbanel, who won such honors here last season as Sonia in "The Merry Widow," is doubly "featured" in the cast with Charles J. Ross, long a favorite humorist on Broadway. Craig Campbell has proved the tenor "find" of the year; while the company of a hundred others includes many singers and players of exceptional worth.

CAPTURED A WILD CAT ALIVE

Keene, Oct. 25.—Everett Wilbur of Surry has had on exhibition a large wildcat which he caught in a steel trap on Bald mountain, Surry. The cat was secured by placing a barrel over him and then transferred to a strong cage. It will probably weigh over 30 pounds.

Mr. Wilbur catches one of the animals nearly every year, but this is the first one he has ever caged and put on exhibition. The wildcat is claimed to be quite plentiful in the vicinity of Bald mountain and does much damage every year. They keep out of sight and are rarely seen unless they are caught in traps. Mr. Wilbur also had on exhibition a pure white hedgehog, an animal which is extremely rare in this section.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing entanglement of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys, and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N.Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake; but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root. If you do you will be disappointed.

KING APPLE

Under the above title the Boston Globe makes an editorial argument in favor of New England as the proper place to raise the apple, the king of fruits, which well might be the king of New England crops.

We have said much along the same line as the Globe men speak and have repeatedly urged the devotion of more time and systematic effort to orcharding in New England. The Globe says:

The traveler who buys a basket of strawberries from the peddler who boards his steamer at Gibraltar receives a striking lesson in the real and apparent quality of fruit. The berries are plump and red. Nesting on green leaves in a neatly woven basket of rushes, they are as tempting as strawberries can be to the eye. On biting into one the traveler finds that he has been gulled, for the berries are white and pulpy and quite devoid of pleasing flavor. They are a product of cunning cultivation in a climate adapted to the forcing of fruit crops.

To the New Englander who buys a western apple a similar experience is like to fall. The fruit is fair to the eye, plump, smooth-skinned, rosy; but there is a suspicion of pith in its flesh. It does not have the crisp, juicy, fruity taste of the old New England apple. The sunshine on the rugged hills, the twilight dews and the cool breath of New England dawns are not imprisoned like an essence within it. It has been raised in a climate akin to the country from which it comes, adapted to rapid growth; and the New Englander finds the new fruit unsatisfying.

This, however, does not alleviate the situation in which the New England apple grower is now placed, for the western grower, with his more showy but inferior fruit, by more active business methods is stealing a march on him in the market. New methods of cultivating, or harvesting, packing and marketing apples have placed western apples where New England apples ought to be.

The fact is indisputable, and it makes the New England fruit show, now interesting Boston, a peculiarly vital thing to the apple growers of New England. It is a signal to every man who owns apple trees, be they few or many, in the New England states, that the time has come to leave easy-going, old-fashioned methods in raising and marketing fruit, and in turn to the more modern methods, which will put the superior fruit of New England where it belongs, at the head of the market. The farmer should learn that a cent spent in careful handling and possibly in wrapping a fine apple is worth two cents more from the ultimate customer, and it is the fancy fruit, selected, neatly wrapped and shipped in handsomely labeled boxes, that has made the fortunes of the western growers.

Few orchards have recently been planted in New England. This should be changed. New orchards should be put down on its sunny hillsides. Maine's 500,000-barrel apple crop in a good year should and could, for example, be doubled or trebled. Orchards should be given more intense cultivation. Scientific methods should be adopted in fertilization of the soil, in grafting, in fighting pests, in harvesting and in packing fruit.

Properly cultivated, the apple is one of the richest of crops. Much has been said of the wealth derived from western wheat. The yield of wheat per acre in the United States is 14 bushels, worth at high prices $14. It is a poor acre of apples, with ninety trees to the acre, that will not yield $100. In the far west $500 an acre is called a fair crop. Why should not New England, with the best apples in the world, do as well?

New England soil is peculiarly adapted to apple culture. It needs no expensive treatment, no irrigation. It is just as rich now as it ever was. Soil that has raised fruit never really becomes incapable of raising it again. In this era of scientific farming we hear less and less of "abandoned" and "run-out" farms. No soil that is properly treated runs out. The soil is the only source of natural wealth that does not exhaust itself. The mine yields its treasure but once. The farm, with common care, yields year after year and century after century.

New Englanders are apt to think of mines as the greatest symbols of wealth. If they but willed it, they would have a source of wealth in apples greater than any group of mines, for New England apples will be paying handsome dividends when the richest mines in the world are worked out and abandoned.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

Latest in Pipe Dreams

"Wait until he comes over with his personal belongings." Then we will fix him. These are the words of Collector Loeb of New York, speaking of the return of Mr. Roosevelt from Africa. They have an ominous sound Mr. Loeb, it will be remembered, was in the recent past the private secretary of President Roosevelt at the White House. In that capacity he was the bluffer between the executive office and the outside world, the keeper of the gate, the slacker-off of cranks and office-seekers, and other undesirable visitors, compelled to be eternally vigilant and careful to wear a suave and smiling exterior, however ruffled he might feel. Very likely at times he was made to hear the blame and to act as a scapegoat. That is the lot of private secretaries. It is partly what they are kept for, and is one of the penalties of their position. Is some big man vexed because some affair of his has not been attended to, or because something has been done of which they do not approve? Well, "Loeb did it," or "Loeb neglected it. Don't blame me."

Possibly the memory of these things rankles. If no man is a hero to his valet, no more may he be to his private secretary. He holds a great office, he sits at the seat of customs in the largest part of the country, and he says to one man, Go and he goeth, and to another, Come, and he cometh. Revenge is sweet. Presently his former master is to come that way from journeys abroad, and positions are reversed. He comes as a private citizen and not as one having authority and here is a chance to haze him a little. The collector says that all articles sent by Mr. Roosevelt for the Smithsonian institution are entitled to come in free of course, but as to his personal belongings, it is another matter. "We'll fix him." What does this mean? Is the ex-President to be subject to the cold eye of suspicion as a possible smuggler? Is he to be required to give a sworn inventory of his baggage, to have his boxes rummaged, or himself to be subject to a personal examination lest he conceal something of value that should pay duty? Or is the collector joking? The chances are that when Loeb sees again that breezy personality and that well known smile, he will wait and forget to "fix" him.—Portland Press.

Possibilities of
Our Farm Lands

FROM the standpoint of the most reliable and recent investigations and information, our land, handled in accordance with certain natural laws that determine its proper utilization, will not only furnish food and clothing for an immensely greater population for ages, but will supply fuel and light and power when coal and petroleum shall have been exhausted. But we must look to better methods of soil usage for the alternative of bringing under cultivation unused and abandoned lands and lands reclaimable from arid or swampy conditions, although adding a vast total to our cultivable fields, will not always suffice to meet the growing demand. Already many sections of congested population are calling upon outside sources for food, and many of the large cities at times actually suffer from vegetable famine. Such shortages are due to more or less local and abnormal conditions, but might become general and permanent unless wise foresight should make provision for the feeding of our rapidly increasing population.

The producing possibility of our cultivable lands becomes almost inconceivable to the mind when we consider that only a small proportion of the land nominally in farms is actually under cultivation, and that our acreage yields are ridiculously low in comparison with those of highly developed agricultural countries like Germany, France and England, notwithstanding that our soils are naturally as productive.

MOTOR BOAT STOLEN

A large motor boat belonging to Captain James Boardman of Kittery was stolen some time Saturday night from its moorings at Boughton's wharf on this side of the river. Capt. Boardman discovered the loss of the boat on Sunday morning shortly after six o'clock, when the local police were notified.

Some time later the boat was discovered tied up to the runway, near the boat shop at the navy yard, and was turned over to the owner.

The sentry, who has the post overlooking the railroad bridge, directly under which the boat was found, claimed to know nothing about the matter, but a marine was arrested and held at the yard in connection with the matter. No damage was done, but the taking of motor boats is a habit that will be discouraged by the authorities at the yard and this city.

Advice to Mothers.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for Children Coughing, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, Croup, Hoarseness, and all the ailments of the Throat and Lungs. It is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

MYOPIA CLUB HUNT AT RYE

The annual drag hunt of the Myopia Hunt Club of Hamilton was held on Saturday afternoon through No. Hampton and Rye and it was one of the largest attended and best meets held by this famous and exclusive club for a long time. The members of the party with their horses arrived at No. Hampton by special train, and after the horses were limbered up and the hounds allowed to run for a while, about four riders mounted and the drag began.

The drag was laid over the fields and meadows from the North Hampton station to Chesley corner, where a relay of horses were in readiness and the majority of the hunters changed mounts, and after a short rest there the pack were again turned loose and the run extended down through Rye road and out across the lower land, over fences and stone walls to Locke's corner.

There were many ladies in the hunt and close by the Hunt Master Mandell came a young girl, who was close on the hounds.

The hunt the greater part of the time was visible from the highway and they were followed by a good number of automobile parties from Hampton and many from this city.

QUARANTINE NOT BROKEN

People Obeyed the Law in the Case on Russell Street

There has been some severe criticism because people were seen to come and go at a house on Russell street which was placarded for disinfection.

The facts are that it is a double house and only half of it was in quarantine. The necessary precautions were taken, and the front door was left free for use in the other side of the house.

The members of the city board of health state that after inquiry, they are satisfied that in this case no quarantine was strictly obeyed.

COMING TO FORT STARK

Double Wedding at the Catholic Church on Saturday

Exeter, Oct. 25.—The several prisoners who are lodged in the jail here are to be taken to Portsmouth this week, where they will be arraigned in superior court, which is in session there, all of them having been indicted last week by the grand jury.

At the home of Mrs. Walter E. Colton next Friday, the Current Events club will give an afternoon tea in aid of the West End mission.

The annual parish supper will be held at the First church next Wednesday evening.

Miss Mabel N. Tyler will sail from New York on Tuesday for a winter of travel and study in Germany.

Misses Nora B. Hatch and Ellen L. Wentworth who have been abroad for more than a year, will prolong their stay beyond original plans. They spent the summer in travel in Germany, Switzerland and Italy and are now about to go to their last winter's quarters in Berlin.

Mrs. Ellsworth G. Lancaster of Olivet, Mich., has the past week visited her father, Rollin A. Tyler.

At the academy chapel on Saturday evening James P. Webber of the English department gave a pleasing recital of "The Merchant of Venice." It was primarily intended as an aid to students, but the public was invited and many attended.

The only football game here this week is on Saturday, when the academy eleven will play the M. I. T. Sophomores. On Wednesday the team goes to Cambridge, Mass., to play the Harvard freshmen. On the freshmen eleven this year are R. P. Lewis and J. C. Bartholf, both graduates from the academy last June, and members of the baseball team. Lewis is a likely man for captain of the eleven.

A double wedding was performed on Saturday at St. Michael's church by the pastor Rev. Fr. John E. Finen. All of the principals were Polish citizens. James Zelinski was married to Stanislaw Lava Broderick; and William Geadis to Lena Liniński.

The Christiana Fraternity at the academy was addressed by David H. Porter Sunday evening, and his address was the source of interest to a large audience. Mr. Porter is the international secretary for preparatory schools of the Young Men's Christian Association, and is a graduate from Bowdoin, and later from Oxford, England. During the last few years he has been visiting the preparatory schools of this country. He was a visitor here two years ago, and was enthusiastically received. The address was followed by an informal reception.

J. P. Webber, instructor in English at the academy, gave a recital from "The Merchant of Venice" at the academy chapel last evening.

Mrs. Arthur M. Cooper, who was so severely injured by falling down a flight of stairs last week, has been discharged from the Cottage hospital.

Porter, who played guard on the 1903 football team, was one of the trainers of the Yale freshmen football team, and visited many former acquaintances here Saturday.

B. T. Way and F. J. Stoddard of Manchester were visitors in town Saturday and attended the football game. Mr. Way has a son, "Pie" Way, a prominent athlete in the academy.

Exeter defeated the Yale freshmen here on Saturday in one of the best played contests of the season. It was a surprise to the supporters of the team as the team has been badly crippled. The only touchdown of the game, which gave Exeter the victory, came late, as the Ell youngsters held Exeter on even terms in the first period. The touchdown involved some of the best football of the game.

Walter Camp, Jr., sent off a long spiral which Pearson caught, and by fine dodging ran back to Yale's 50 yard line. He then made a beautiful forward pass to Gillis for 20 yards, putting it on the 30 yard line. Then Wilson and Upham punctured the Yale line till the ball rested only one foot from the goal; then Wilson was pushed across. Downing kicked the goal. In the first half both Exeter and Yale tried field goals, which failed. The running of Pearson, who in the first half made two long runs of 30 yards, the tackling and handling of the forward pass by Gillis, the punting of Camp and the rushing of Baker and Philbin were the features.

TARGET RECORD BROKEN AGAIN

Washington, Oct. 25.—A new record has been established by the great coast defense guns at Fort Hancock, N. J., a report of which has just reached the war department. With 10 inch disappearing rifles the battery there fired four shots a minute at a target 30 feet high and 60 feet long, which was being towed by a tug and every shot told. Four shots fired in one minute all struck within a space of 63 feet. This record never before has been approached by the coast artillery. No heavy gun battery above 6 inch in calibre has attained speed of firing or the hits per minute made in this practice. The distance at which the record was made, was more than 7000 yards, or about four miles. The Eighteenth company, Coast Artillery Corps, is credited with this new mark in gunnery. The company is ordinarily stationed at Fort Schuyler, N. Y., and at the time of the shooting was under the command of captain Charles L. Fisher.

Our Idea in Advertising

Is not so much to sell a Suit or Overcoat as it is to get a customer. There is a big difference between selling a man a suit and getting him for a regular customer.

But our object is to sell a man such a good suit the first time that he comes back for another one next season, and keeps coming back until he gets the habit of coming,—a habit that he finds too good to break.

There are many things about our Suits and Overcoats that we could tell you, but long years of experience tells us, that a satisfied customer is one of the best advertisements a Tailor can have.

Let us make you a Suit or Overcoat this season.

A GOAL FROM THE FIELD

Won Football Game for Portsmouth
From the U. S. S. Wisconsin.

The Portsmouth football team defeated the U. S. S. Wisconsin at the Plains Saturday afternoon in a well played and interesting game. The only score was a beautiful goal from the field by Trueman from the thirty-three yard line. The teams were evenly matched and the play was about even until the last few minutes of the last half, when the local team discontinued fruitless onslaught on the center and started the backs at skin tackle rushes which netted considerable distance. They were able to get the ball on the thirty-three yard line, when Trueman dropped back and booted a beautiful goal from the field. Neither side scored after that, and the ball remained the greater part of the time in the midfield.

The Wisconsin team had much the advantage in weight, but they were not so fast and failed to make any material gains around the ends, and the linemen had too good a defense to break down. They did execute a clever forward pass from a fake kick which netted them about thirty yards.

Young Tommy Pihlman played a star game at quarter and made several long runs, and he was given excellent support by the three backs, Leavitt, Boom and Morrissey, the first named being especially brilliant in his running and tackling. Howard played a fine game at half and played a one game at center. For the sailors Ashway played a noticeable game and the center trio were good.

There were a large number of sailors present to root for their team.

ABOUT PEOPLE

The fact that the new Dred-nough Delaware has come up to her speed requirements and practically a knot over, will make it up to Capt. Thomas E. Evans, the master of tugs at this yard, to do a better turn with her sister ship, the North Dakota, which will be given her trial Nov. first. Captain Evans is now at the Fore River Shipbuilding company assisting in getting his crew ready for the trip, which will take upwards of a month to complete all of her tests. Captain Evans was given leave of absence by the navy department to do this work, and he will have absolute charge of the trial trip. He selects the entire crew, and with the exception of the engineer force they are all taken from outside of the works. The mates are chosen from the large steamship lines about Boston, while the quartermasters are taken from the tow boat mates, one being taken from the tug Mitchell Davis of this city. The firemen—and they are the most important, where it is considered that the big ship must be driven at the topmost speed—are secured from the tugs and steamers, and outside of the mates, they are the best paid. The crew is also signed for the trip. The catering is an important matter, and this is done by a New York concern, which makes a business of the matter. During the speed trip over the measured mile off Rockland, Captain Evans does not allow anybody to steer the big craft other than himself, for when the least turn means loss of valuable time. Captain Evans has had years of experience at this kind of work, first as mate and then as master of the big warships on trials, and the Fore River Shipbuilding company give absolute command of their big ships for their trials, with the full power to select all of his own crew, and he has always made good.

School teachers have many things thrown up at them by unruly scholars but it was up to a local lad to be most original with his instructor, a well-known young lady. He, after being punished for some offense, broke out with: "Say, I wish you were married to my father." The teacher was taken somewhat by surprise, but she did not answer, and after glaring at her a minute, he said: "Do you know why? Well, then, he would lick you." Revenge is sweet.

REAR ADMIRAL ERBEN DEAD

Rear Admiral Henry Erben, U. S. N. (retired), died in New York Saturday at the age of seventy-seven. He entered the navy in 1848 and served through the civil war with a brilliant record, coming out with the rank of commander. He was promoted to a captain in 1882, was made commodore in 1892 and rear admiral in 1893, retiring in the fall of the next year. A widow and two children survive him.

Few officers in the naval service could boast of a more eventful career than that of Erben, before he retired from active duty. He was born in New York city and was appointed a midshipman in the navy June 17, 1848. His first service aboard after leaving the Annapolis academy was on board the fifty-gun frigate St. Lawrence. He did duty on board the vessel until July, 1853, when he was detached and ordered to the coast survey schooner Crawford. His service on board that craft extended to 1854, when he was ordered back to the naval academy for examination for promotion. He went through the ordeal successfully and shortly afterward was ordered to join the frigate Potomac of the North Atlantic squadron. He was at Pensacola (Fla.) navy yard at the outbreak of the civil war. His service throughout the rebellion was notable and took him on various expeditions to several sections of the country. He served under some of the most distinguished generals. His chief service was in the Gulf and Mississippi River squadrons.

In 1895 he returned home and was assigned to duty in New York navy yard. His next command afloat was the Huron, which was afterward wrecked. On the Kansas and Pawnee he served until 1898, when he was commissioned as commander and ordered to ordnance duty in the New York navy yard. He commanded the monitor Manhattan in 1878, and then the Tuscarora of the North Pacific squadron, which during his period of service on board was engaged in making deep-sea soundings. Two years of duty at the Portsmouth navy yard was followed by the command of the nautical school ship St. Mary's. When in 1882 he was promoted to be captain he was sent to command the Pensacola, and to take the vessel plying that duty, he returned to the Portsmouth navy yard, and was subsequently promoted to commodore and acted as commandant of the New York navy yard. He was detached from that duty in June, 1894, and ordered to command the European station, with the Chicago as flagship. His retirement came with his age limitation.

While on duty here he made a host of friends among the clerks and workmen.

COURT MARTIAL NAVY SURGEON

Manila, Oct. 25.—A court-martial with Rear Admiral Arthur P. Nazzari presiding, met at Cavite on Saturday and tried Surgeon Francis W. F. Wieber on the charge of using abusive language to a brother officer.

CITY BRIEFS

Another teacher resigned from the high school. This leaves but one or two of the last year's staff. Small salaries are the cause.

Now that the Delaware has completed her speed test the interest in the test of the North Dakota will be watched with more interest.

LITERARY NOTES

The November Wide World Magazine.

In the November Wide World Magazine, appears the first of a series of articles dealing with "The Great Feuds of Kentucky." According to the editor, no effort has been spared to make the narratives as accurate and fair to all parties as possible. The stories themselves have been obtained from the official records of the trials and from people who participated in the actual warfare. The first narrative—the Hatfield-McCoy feud—is thrilling in the extreme—a grim picture of a state of affairs which is now happily passing away.

The November Strand Magazine.

The November Strand Magazine contains some excellent fiction and a number of articles of a unique and interesting character. Short stories are provided by W. W. Jacobs, Morley Roberts, Richard Marsh, C. C. Andrews, and other popular authors. There is also a long concluding installment of "The White Christ" by Hall Craloe. Caruso, the idol of the musical world, writes his "Reminiscences" and illustrates them with some clever sketches.

The November Van Norden.

Politics has an important place, because of its timeliness, in the November Van Norden Magazine. The cover is strikingly illustrative of the topic uppermost throughout the country and there are several articles which deal with the subject. Of widespread interest is "Why Tammany Wins," signed "A Leader."

Limitations of the Playwright

In every period when literature has been distinguished by abundant dramatic production, the playwright will be found to have composed his plays in accordance with the conditions of the actual theatre of his own time. He may not have liked these conditions, and he may have believed that they could be bettered, but he has always begun by accepting them, whatever they might be. He has done this necessarily and inevitably, whether he himself was truly a dramatic poet like Sophocles and Shakespeare or merely an ingenious stagecraftsman like Kotzebue and Sardou. What the playwright of every age has done instinctively and without hesitation, the historians of literature are now beginning to perceive, and only a few of them have yet grasped the full significance of the fact that it is impossible justly to appreciate the art of the truly dramatic poet, Sophocles or Shakespeare, Moliere or Ibsen, without a clear understanding of the chief circumstances of an actual performance in the particular theatre for which the dramatist prepared his plays and to the size and shape and scenery to which he had to adjust the construction of his story. From Brander Matthews' "The Dramatist and the Theatre" in the November Century.

PANAMA CANAL HALF DONE

Washington, Oct. 25.—Half the excavation which the American engineers estimated would be necessary when they undertook the completion of the Panama Canal after the purchase of the French interests is completed, according to calculations made by the Isthmian Canal commission. The grand total of excavation made by the Americans to the end of September was 37,172,058 cubic yards, 322,478 yards short of one-half estimated to complete the work. Based on the record of operations of the steam shovels and dredges, the half way mark was reached early in October. The French took 81,548,000 cubic yards of dirt from the ditch before the Americans got control.

A WRONG NOTION.

ECZEMA NOT A BLOOD DISEASE

Eczema, the most common of all skin disorders, is no longer considered a blood disease by the best physicians. Internal medicines and physics are practically useless in treating it. External remedies, used heretofore have frequently been beneficial, but the permanent cure of eczema was long thought to be impossible. It was this deplorable condition that inspired the chemist who discovered the new remedy Cadum. Since Cadum was introduced a short time ago, experience has shown that long treatments with it are unnecessary, two or three weeks being usually sufficient for an ordinary case of eczema. A single application will entirely subdue the itching, and will also accomplish wonderful results in ringworm, itch, hives, scabies, itching piles, chafing, boils, inflamed skin, red and inflamed noses, pimples, blackheads, etc. Where the disease presents an unsightly appearance, the thin coating of Cadum almost conceals the sore. The gratifying results which have attended the use of Cadum in the treatment of eczema and other skin diseases warrant the belief that there never has before been introduced to the public such an efficient and perfect product as Cadum. It is free from all poisonous and dangerous mixtures. Every ingredient for which a standard of purity is set by the Pharmacopoeia, complies with the standard, so as to secure the great efficacy which this new remedy possesses. All druggists supply Cadum at 10c and 25c per box.

A Call for Fifteen More Men

Battleship Maine work Has Started

Pay Day for the Crews of the Battleships

Boatswain Glass Has Been Ordered to the Gunboat Hist

Pay Day for Crews

The crews of the U. S. S. Wisconsin and New Hampshire were paid today which means the distribution of a large sum of money and a great benefit to this port.

To Sail on Thursday

The collier Marcellus is expected to get away under sailing orders on Thursday of this week.

Was There Any Bids offered?

That no action is taken on the bids opened two months ago at Washington regarding the repairs of the yard bridge to Kittery is a puzzle.

Boatswain Glass Transferred

Boatswain James Glass, who has for the past two years or more been assigned to duty at this yard, has been transferred to duty on the U. S. S. Hist, and will shortly sail with that ship for southern waters. The boatswain has made a most efficient man in every line of duty in which he has performed under the official heads of several departments.

Started Work on Maine

The former steam engineering department and the ordnance force have begun work on the U. S. S. Maine. Before the work is fully under way the vessel will be shifted to the quay wall where the shears can be utilized. It is understood that preparations will be made for the removal of the boilers as soon as possible.

Fifteen in this Bunch

The call issued today by the labor board requires four boilermakers, four boilermaker's helpers, two welders, two electrical mechanics and three electrician's helpers.

Paducah Heard From

Wireless stations along the coast are picking up some flashes from the U. S. S. Paducah which indicates that the vessel has left Guantanamo. She will probably put in at New York or Norfolk before coming here.

Again Hoisting Weather Signals

The crew of the wireless station at Seavey's Island have been ordered to commence the display of weather signals that will continue from now until next March.

The North Dakota at Charlestown

All the plans have been completed at the Boston navy yard for the reception on Wednesday of the battleship North Dakota. The ship will arrive on Wednesday from Fore River and Thursday will be docked for her underwater overhauling, cleaning and painting in preparation for her acceptance trial trips. Nov. 2 has been set as the date for the beginning of the trials over the Rockland, Me., course.

The Winslow at Charlestown

The United States torpedo boat Winslow, which has been in use by the Massachusetts naval brigade for the summer, was taken to the Charlestown navy yard on Sunday, and tomorrow will be officially turned over to the naval officers there. The little ship will remain at the yard this winter in reserve and next spring will again be loaned to the brigade.

SUPERIOR COURT

Petit Jurors Sworn In and Criminal Cases Started

At the reopening of superior court this afternoon the petit jurors were sworn in and excused till half past nine o'clock on Tuesday.

One criminal case was called up, that of the three Perry boys, Philip Blivenne, Nelson Courtmacche and Richard Russell, charged with breaking and entering and attempt to steal bananas. They were placed on probation on recommendation of County Solicitor Batchelder, the case being continued for sentence on payment of costs.

The next business was the calling of the new docket. This will be followed by the arraignment of the rest of the parties under indictment.

NEWMARKET

The federated Congregational and Methodist churches on Sunday dedicated the Congregational meeting house, which has been repaired and renovated at an outlay of about $700. The walls and ceiling of the auditorium have been decorated, electric lights installed and many minor improvements made.

Rev. Martin F. Mevis of North Hampton preached the dedicatory sermon this morning. Rev. John C. Prince pastor of the federated church and Rev. W. Lincoln Phillips, pastor of the Free Baptist church, closed for the day, assisted in the service.

In the evening Rev. George H. Driver, pastor of the First church at Exeter, gave an address on "An Unparalleled Age, or the Church in the 20th Century." Rev. John C. Prince gave an historical address and R. W. Lincoln Phillips conducted the devotions. A double quartette gave a pleasing musical programme.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings there will be union services in the church. Local pastors will be assisted by Rev. E. E. Iteynolds of Manchester. The choral music will be under the direction of Miss Brigham of Medford, Mass.

BURNED FIGHTING FIRE

Edwin Plummer Inured in Auburn on Sunday

Auburn, Oct. 25.—The residence of Edwin Plummer, who is one of the best known residents of the town, situated on the Runkler Hill road about a mile from the village of Auburn, was burned to the ground on Sunday afternoon, entailing a loss of over $3000. There was an insurance of $1200.

The fire was discovered at 3 o'clock and had made such headway that its progress could not be stopped by the help at hand. Mr. Plummer had his face, beard, eyebrows and hair burned in fighting the flames. With Mr. and Mrs. Plummer at the time were Mr. and Mrs. Martin L. Piper and both families lost heavily.

Mr. Plummer's loss besides the buildings included a barn filled with hay and a cellar filled with apples and vegetables. The livestock and a part of the furniture were saved. The origin of the fire cannot be accounted for. The buildings destroyed included a house, L and barn.

UNECESSARY NAVY YARDS

New York World Hears That League Island May be Such

The New York Sunday-World published the following special dispatch:

Washington, Oct. 23.—The plan of Secretary Meyer for the elimination of the unnecessary navy yards is regarded here as Utopian. That the senators and congressmen who represent states in which navy yards are situated will consent to the sacrifice of the patronage involved is beyond the belief of all conversant with political practice.

Among the navy yards said to be slated for the retired list is the Philadelphia yard at League Island. In opposition to the discontinuance of this yard stand the votes in Congress of the two senators and thirty-two Congressmen from Pennsylvania to say nothing of the assistance obtainable from Delaware and New Jersey. The elimination of either the Charleston or Port Royal Naval Station in South Carolina would meet the opposition of Senator Tillman, who has powerful friendships on both sides of the chamber.

COMMISSIONERS PLACE WREATH ON COMMODORE'S GRAVE

Boston, Oct. 23.—A trip to New York on Sunday to pay tribute to the memory of Commodore Matthew Perry, U. S. N., who led the expedition to Japan which opened the ports of that country to the commercial world, was made by a delegation of the honorary commercial commissioners of Japan, who are visiting Boston as part of their tour of the United States.

The party went by special train. At the grave Baron Eichi Shibusawa, chairman of the commission, placed a wreath of laurel and white roses at the base of the monument, with a few words in his native language, in which the rest of his countrymen joined.

The party was entertained at luncheon by the mayor and shown about the naval training station.

BIG BLOW AT KEARSARGE

Landlord Sherman T. Newton of the Kearsarge House is making preparations for the semi-annual banquet of the Pine Tree club of Lewiston, who have met in this city for the past four years.

This is an occasion when "Newt" shines and the famous club always find much pleasure on their visit to this city. The next trip occurs in November and will be a record event in the history of the association.
